SMITH SHOW OVER WORK CONTINUES FOR NOMINATION

CONFIDENT THAT McADOO IS BEATEN.

They Claim The Earth

And Would Extend Sidewalks New York to Washington.

By PERCY B. SCOTT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Having staged their "show," the managers of Alfred E. Smith's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination went to work again today to bring to fruition their plan of extending the sidewalks of New York to Washington.

Confident that Wm. G. McAdoo is beaten, and equally confident that they have sufficient votes to nominate their candidate, the Smith men today claimed the empire state governor would "go over on the tenth ballot."

They were enthusiastic over their first skirmish with the forces of the Californian late yesterday in which they forced an adjournment until today when the Westerner and his backers wanted a night session. As a result of this showdown, the New Yorkers are claiming that it strengthened their forces in a moral way materially, and that actually it brought to their standard a majority of Connecticut delegation which has heretofore been conceded to McAdoo.

Actually the fight was between the McAdoo group on the one side and all the anti-McAdoo men on the other, but it was engineered and captained by the New Yorkers.

The Governor planned to keep in touch with the convention by telephone today. Suffering from an intestinal trouble, Smith was not at his headquarters during the morning and planned to direct his forces from his suite in the hotel Biltmore.

Another Foreign Fighter Knocked Out

NEW YORK, June 27.—From over a round the English channel has come another fighting machine with a heart and an iron jaw—Ted Moore.

For fifteen rounds last night, he stayed on while 40,000 fight fans urged Harry Greb, middleweight champion, to put over the knockout. It was the feature event of the Milk Fund show at the Yankee Stadium and Moore lost the decision in 15 rounds but won plaudits by his gameness.

In the semi windup Fernino Spalla, the European heavyweight champion got smashed with everything Gene Tunney offered for seven rounds and the bout was ended. The referee gave Tunney a technical knockout.

Officials gave Young Strubling of Georgia, the decision over Tommy Loughnan of Philadelphia, in six rounds. The crowd boomed.

Only one title changed hands, that of Colored middleweight champion, Lennie Fatougue won it from Panama Joe Gans after 10 rounds of vicious boxing. Gans was almost out twice.

ENGLAND STILL TRYING TO BEAT AMERICANS

CALCUTTA, June 27.—Major Stuart MacLaren left Rangoon for Bangkok this morning continuing his effort to beat the United States army's planes in the flight around the world.

MacLaren is confident he still has a chance to beat the American fliers. "The Americans aren't near around the world yet," he said.

THAT DOESN'T HAPPEN HERE

EL PASO, Texas, June 27.—Jose Pedillo, Mexican youth, was shot and killed by soldiers in Juarez when he failed to observe the traffic signals while driving an automobile. The body was brought to El Paso.

Bread Cast Upon The Waters Returns Today

DODGE CITY, Kans., June 27.—Bread cast upon the waters by business men in Kansas City, Chicago and other large Midwest centers in the form of a subscription of $500,000 for impoverished farmers of Western Kansas to purchase seed wheat a year ago, returned today.

The contributors were taken on a 120-mile tour through the Kansas wheat belt and shown the finest crop of grain the state has boasted in five years. Tonight they will be given a prairie chicken dinner by C. C. Isley, miller of Dodge City.

Isley promised a year ago when the seed wheat contribution was made that if a good crop resulted, he would stage the party for the donors. He made good today.

LESS TALKING AND MORE VOTING NEEDED

By SENATOR C. O. DILL

United States Senator from Wash. (Written for the United Press)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 27.—What this convention needs most right now is some means to stop the orgy of speech making. Everybody who hasn't spoken has had enough.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech for Al Smith Thursday was the best yet made in the convention, but like the others, it was too long. At the beginning of the convention a rule was adopted limiting nominating speeches to twenty minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes, but everybody, including Senator Walsh the chairman has forgotten it.

These convention speeches are longer than those we have in the United States Senate. The worst of it is that after every speech there is a demonstration which lasts longer than the speech.

The Smith demonstration Thursday was so tremendous and so stirring that all the rest of the demonstrations will seem like imitations. There was a time too when some real orator might have stirred the delegates to genuine enthusiasm but they are so fed up it is doubtful if anyone can do so.

Why do speakers who address national political conventions destroy their own opportunities for making a big impression by talking too long? No convention orator ever swept up to the heights of oratorical glory by making a long speech. Why do those who are not orators fail to remember that and thereby save their hearers many weary hours.

Ingersoll's speech nominating Blaine, contained less than 2,000 words. Bryan's "cross of gold" speech took less than 30 minutes. Tom Reed of Maine, better known as "Czar Reed" of the House of Representatives, never spoke more than 20 minutes. The greatest preachers agree that no souls are saved after the first 30 minutes of preaching. Just so the McAdoo and Smith adherents will make no more votes by speeches and demonstrations. If there is no other way to stop these long speeches and demonstrations, Chairman Walsh might have the galleries cleared and enforce the 20 and 5 minute rule so the convention can go home before fall.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 27.—O. C. Killan, city fireman, suffered several broken ribs when he was struck in the chest by the nozzle of a hose while fighting a blaze. High water pressure blew the nozzle off the hose and it struck Killan's chest.

Madison Square Garden, scene of many famous combats, was the chosen stage for a great battle when the backers of McAdoo, Smith, Davis, Underwood and a squadron of dark horses met to nominate Democracy's standard bearer in November.

NOW LOOKING FOR DARK HORSE

By ROBERT J. BENDER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—W. G. McAdoo and Gov. Al Smith have had their days and some half dozen other candidates were waiting at the post for the get-away gun this morning as the fourth session of the Democratic national convention began.

By the first test vote cast late yesterday on a question of adjournment, the anti-McAdoo forces showed that they were sufficiently cohesive to beat McAdoo out of a two-thirds majority for the nomination if that is their prime objective.

By a similar token the great demonstrations for Smith, staged at intervals through the long session yesterday showed the most the New York executive can hope for is the vote of some 15 states and territories, totaling 424 votes, far short of enough to nominate.

As a result the different delegation leaders this morning, were considering the future on the basis that McAdoo was eliminated, that only a stampede could nominate Smith and that the party leader must be selected from outside the list of those most discussed as strong possibilities. John W. Davis, according to those measuring the availability of conditions, would not be able to withstand the attacks of Wm. Jennings Bryan. Senator Underwood, they say, is not to be seriously considered and for the moment, the list of potential "dark horses" has divided on the eve of the balloting, to the following:

Senator Thomas Walsh, Newton D. Baker and Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

But in the background stands James M. Cox of Ohio, the standard bearer of four years ago. Cox made a gallant fight in that campaign against the devastating odds of a situation in which the dominant issue was desire for a change, and in which, for one reason or another, he could not command the financial support of the mainstays of the party.

Many of the delegates who attended the 1920 convention at San Francisco which nominated Cox, believe he should be given another chance—a real try, under more favorable circumstances.

SHRINE ENTERTAINS CRIPPLES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 27.—Lu Lu Temple gave a special matinee of their Spring Fashion Show at which 600 orphans and crippled children were the guests. Albert A. Ladner, Jr., Illustrious Potentate of the Temple received the little guests and assisted in carrying them into the auditorium. Each child received a gift of candy.

AMERICAN-CHAMP GOLFER

HOY LAKE, England, June 27.—Walter Hagen, American pro, won the British open golf championship. Score for seventy two holes was 309.

Klan Is Big Issue As Fourth Convention Session Opens

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 27.—The Ku Klux Klan as a political issue completely dominated the convention as delegates gathered for the fourth session.

McAdoo forces hope to continue the fight within the resolutions committee against naming the Klan long enough to force balloting before the platform is adopted.

McAdoo has the greatest early delegate strength and his followers believe with a good showing through several ballots they can force the platform framers to eliminate reference to the Klan.

The name of James M. Cox was placed in nomination by Newton D. Baker. The fact that Mississippi yielded to Ohio on the roll call, and that Pat Harrison was one of Cox's leaders four years ago, gave rise to the belief that Harrison has decided to support Cox again. Baker's speech was interrupted by frequent hand clapping. He denounced the Klan and appealed for the League of Nations. A small demonstration was started for Cox at the conclusion of Baker's speech.

Eugene O. Sullivan of Omaha then nominated Governor Charles Bryan of Nebraska. He referred to Coolidge as an "accidental president."

Indications now that there will be a night session. Governor Silzer of New Jersey was placed in nomination and then Governor Brown of New Hampshire. Other speakers made short nominating speeches.

KLAN FIGHT ON FLOOR CERTAIN

A fight on the convention floor over the Klan was made certain this afternoon when the sub-committee drafting the platform voted 10 to 4 to submit a plank to the full committee denouncing the principles of the Klan but not naming it. The four members demanding that the Klan be named will submit a minority report and the flood gates of debate will be opened. A floor fight on the League of Nations plank is also certain.

Newton D. Baker declared if his plank is not adopted he will make a minority report and carry the fight to the floor. Leaders agreed to hold a night session at 8:00 o'clock tonight in case the platform committee is ready to report. However, it looks as if it won't be ready, in which case the convention will adjourn, after nominating speeches are made, until tomorrow morning.

McAdoo supporters decided that they would not attempt to hold a night session to start balloting in case the platform is not ready.

RADIO SPEELER ACCUSED OF TAKING SIDES

By FRANK GETTY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—Major J. A. White, who is broadcasting the Democratic convention for the Radio Corporation, sends his respects to the Ku Klux Klan.

If they don't like what's going on in Madison Square Garden, they needn't write to him about it.

Major White is in receipt of numerous hot epistles from Klan sympathizers in all parts of the country. They object to his description of the big anti-Klan demonstration on Wednesday. The writers accused him of partiality and other things not so nice. They even threatened, in some cases, to do something about it. Many telegraphed their protests.

As official broadcaster, Major White says he proposes to tell the world just what's going on at the Garden, and let who will be clever.

There are lots of funny things in Major White's mail bag every day, now that the convention is on. The letters show the way the country is reacting to the convention.

People write in and accuse the broadcaster of being "pro-Smith" when he turns on the microphones and lets loose over the ether a great blast of cheering for Al and then tells them about the parade around the hall with the bands playing "The Sidewalks of New York."

Then others write in and complain he is giving McAdoo the best of it. They know, they say, because they checked up on him in the paper.

The "listeners in" of the South think he's favoring the North and vice versa.

LIVE WIRE FROM MADISON SQUARE WITH THE FACTS

IT WAS THE FIELD AGAINST McADOO.

Smith Rally Frame-Up

Klan Plank May Abrogate The Unit Rule.

By A. GARLAND ADAIR
(Special to the Mexia Daily News)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—McAdoo has a better chance today than at any time since the convention started, though only a fighting chance at that. His followers are much elated at the showing made when the vote was taken Thursday as to recess or adjournment. Al Smith boosters and all states with favorite sons voted to adjourn by only a few more than McAdoo, showing surprising strength possible inroads into favorite sons' states.

Not a rock-ribbed democratic state participated in the Smith mighty demonstration Thursday. It was a display by republican states and a tribute of the home folks to their own.

Texas is much encouraged and firm for McAdoo and Owsley.

When the galleries shouted "oil" when Hays made a masterful McAdoo seconding speech Congressman Upshaw retorted: "Rather have oil than liquor."

McAdoo stands for the rights of peaceful organizations and lawful assemblies, which is as far as he has gone in the direction of the Klan subject.

If a report on the Klan plank by name is brought in by the minority, states will likely be released from the unit rule and will count noses.

Anti-Klansmen control the democratic party in the east, especially New York, while Klan strength here is greatest in the republican party.

LaFollette Would Reorganize Populists

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—A call summoning supporters of the old populist party of the nineties to the "third party" political convention here July 4, was issued today by La Follette supporters.

It was a definite move in the program by the conference for progressive political action, sponsoring the third party meeting to unite all the progressive groups of the nation behind Senator Robert M. La Follette for his independent race for the presidency.

The call was issued here by W. H. Bingham, one of the leaders of the Populist movement in Kansas, where the party was born.

PLATFORM FRAMERS HAVING A HARD TIME TO PLEASE EVERYBODY

By PAUL B. MALLON

U. P. HEADQUARTERS, Waldorf Hotel, New York, June 27.—The resolutions committee of the Democratic convention today swung into its third day of labor in an attempt to draft planks covering the Ku Klux Klan and League of Nations.

So bitter has the Klan situation become that leaders desire to avert a fight on the issue on the floor of the convention at all costs.

Dragging of the Klan debate to the floor, it is recognized might split the party wide open, so heated have the contending factions become.

Advocates of a strong endorsement of entrance into the League of Nations are equally insistent with the anti-Klan leaders that such a league plank be adopted.

As a result of the delicate situation, the full resolutions committee, after long hours of weary haggling, voted at 8:30 a. m. today to turn the talk of grafting planks to cover the two major issues back to the drafting sub-committee.

This sub-committee worked most of Wednesday night and Thursday, night drawing up the platform. The members could not agree on the Klan and league planks. Hence, they submitted to the full committee last night, alternate planks covering both questions. The full committee could not agree and the efforts must now continue to effect a compromise.

As the members of the resolution committee trudged wearily to their hotel rooms just before dawn today the convention was but little nearer to an agreement on the Klan issue than it was several days back, when the question of the stand that should be taken toward the hooded order first came crackling about the ears of the convention leaders.

One faction demands open denunciation of the Klan by name. A second would declare for religious freedom and denounce interference with these rights in general terms.

With respect to the league, one faction demands that the party be committed to America's entrance in event of Democratic victory. Another would endorse the league in principle, but make no commitment without a national referendum.

Between these two extremes on both issues, the resolutions committee now hopes to find a compromise that will be accepted without a convention floor struggle.

Pursuant to the instructions of the full committee the drafting committee will now meet at 11 a. m. today and will report the results of its renewed labors to the full committee at 2 p. m. this afternoon. If the sub-committee is able to write compromise planks that are acceptable, then it is hoped that the final action may be taken by the full committee during the afternoon, and the platform be presented to the convention at an after-dinner session tonight.

As a result of the full committee conference last night, the task of the drafting members today is to take the alternate planks submitted yesterday and go combine them that they will be acceptable to all extreme factions. Under this plan, then, the new planks would: Denounce the Klan by name, but so often the language as to cause as little trouble as possible.

Endorse the league policies of Woodrow Wilson, but avoid pledging America's immediate entrance.

Such a course, while it does not meet the unanimous approval of the committee is now favored by leaders as the best way to preserve peace.

Hence what the committee decided to submit for automatic adoption by the convention.

Farin Robert Modified endorsement of the principle of the McNary-Hautzen bill including expressions against actual price-fixing by the government.

Railroads: Declaration for repeal of Section 11-A of the Esch-Cummins Act. This is the rate-making section which guarantees the roads a return of 5.3-1 per cent upon their investment. Call for revision of the law under which the Rail Labor Board operates.

Tariffs: Denunciation of the high Fordney-McCumber tariff blaming it for the farmers' economic ills and pledging substantially lower rates.

Industry regulations: Pledging the party to regulate the coal industry for lower prices.

Taxation: Declaration for 40 per cent sur tax and lower rates on incomes of less than $5,000 with a fiery denunciation of the Mellon plan.

War Referendum: The Bryan plank urging that all the nations of the world join in a program for declaration of war only after a national referendum.

The prohibition plank calls for law enforcement without mentioning the Eighteenth Amendment.

FASHION PRESCRIBES A SCARF A DAY

THERE is nothing monotonous about the vogue of the scarf, because it is as infinite in its variety as its feminine wearer. A scarf a day is prescribed by Fashion, and we may be gay Monday, pensive Tuesday, demure Wednesday, and so on around the week.

This scarf and hat set sketched in Paris by Cheney is evidently worn on a dignified day. It attains a very rich effect with the "ton sur ton" brown printed crepe scarf trimmed with narrow bands of coral pink crepe worked in squares. The same trimming is used on the brown bangkok hat.

K. C. HAIL STORM KILLS ONE AND INJURES MORE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 27.—One was killed and seven injured today in the most severe rain, hail and wind storm experienced in Kansas City in a decade. Rain fell in sheets, flooding streets and basements and causing streams to rise to flood stages.

The Missouri river registered 20 feet, twice its normal depth, and the Kaw river rose rapidly. Small streams were out of their banks. Torrents rushed down the streets, sweeping out pavements in blocks and tying up traffic. Autos trying to make their way through the blinding rain were stalled when the pavement buckled beneath them, and was swept away in large chunks.

The storm was largely local in the Kansas City area.

WHAT DID THE "HOOT" MEAN FOR WILLS?

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Coming events sometimes cast their shadows, as well as shadows, before them.

Two men, one a tall, chocolate-colored negro with steam rising from his sleek sides, the other shorter by a head, white-fleshed, both spattered with blood from the latter's wounds, panted and tugged and wrestled across a white splotch of canvas, kicking up clouds of resin with shuffling feet.

A glare of lights beat down mercilessly upon their straining forms, while all around was ebony black by contrast, save where dots of lighted cigars and cigarettes flickered like fire-flies across the panorama of half-teen faces.

No sound save the grunts of the fighters, the shifting feet, the slap and thud of blows on glove and shoulder; no cheers, because the negro was cutting the white man to ribbons.

From afar, way up on an elevated trestle that ran the stadium, came a clear, warning "Hoot-hoot" from a moving train. It cut through the comparative quiet of that June night like a knife. The crowd laughed, breaking the tension.

But to Harry Wills, steaming and straining there under the lights, the "hoot-hoot" must have sounded ominously like another "hoot" he once knew well—the "hoot-hoot" of the old Mississippi steamboat passing the levee.

If it's true that coming events cast their shadows, like their shadows, before—then Harry Wills heard something when far-away "H" train whistled like a steamboat coming round the bend. Because Harry used to be a stove-pipe down in Noo O'leens, and right now it looks as though that was what and where he isn't going to be much of anything else but.

The negro may meet Firpo, but it won't draw a big gate.

When Wills failed to stop courageous little Bartley Madden that night in June he cost himself and a lot of other folks a lot of money.

He cost his venerable old mentor Paddy Mullins, who has stuck by him through thick and thin, the manager's share of the losing end of at least one big purse. He cost Tex Rickard money; he cost Luis Angel Firpo money; perhaps he cost Jack Dempsey money.

But Wills couldn't help it. He just couldn't fight and abide by the rules at one and the same time. He knew the rules and observed them, for the first 12 rounds. He was woefully ineffective as a result.

Everybody Happy Including Pat At End of First Day

By C. C. DILL
U. S. Senator from Washington
(Written for United Press.)
NEW YORK, June 26.—Everybody's happy. That's the end of a perfect first convention day.

Pat Harrison smiled and smiled, while he played the double role of hero to the Democratic and villain to the Republicans.

He is an instructed delegate and the friends of every candidate found much in what he said to prove that their particular candidate is exactly the man to nominate.

Harrison had a chance to place himself in line for the nomination if the convention should deadlock and find it necessary to break to a new candidate but he didn't. Everybody praised him but not enough to justify a presidential nomination. He pictured the Republican dark, inefficient and corrupt but failed to inspire his audience with the vision of a promised land or with confidence that he could lead the American people to it if there were one.

The delegates found the great hall most agreeable. They never before saw so many flags in one place. Then the thousands of fluttering little flags falling like confetti from between the stripes of the monster flag overhead while the band played and everybody sang the Star Spangled Banner, gave them a complete thrill.

Being the opening day everybody was glad to see everybody else. Even the McAdoo and Smith delegates smiled at each other and shook hands cordially. That might have been much like prize fighters shaking hands before they begin pummeling one another, but Harrison's speech made them so happy that they almost forgot for a little while that they were made to fight instead of celebrating. So they applauded and stood up and down and applauded some more during the first ten minutes, but when the Mississippi began quoting statistics, most of the delegates turned on their seats to study the flag decorations and locate the seating of the different State delegations.

He called back their attention with mention of Paul Revere and Woodrow Wilson and then the leaders staged a parade while Harrison rested and everybody wondered whether or not he was done.

Again he lost the attention of the vast throng by discussing the League of Nations but brought cheers with prediction of victory in the fall so that with the beginning and end of his speech everybody was happy.

FIVE MILLIONS TO HARVARD

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—(Scottish Rite News Bureau.)—The magnificent gift of five million dollars to Harvard University is widely acclaimed in educational circles, as another indication of the importance education is coming to have in the eyes of big business and big business men. In making the gift, George F. Baker wrote to Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts, as follows: "As I told you, I am much impressed with the undertaking Harvard is making to raise a fund for enlarging and perfecting certain branches of its activities. I am especially impressed with the determination to make the graduate school of business administration of the very first importance in the country."

SENATOR EDGAR WITT PAYS MEXIA A VISIT

State Senator Edgar E. Witt of Waco was in Mexia Thursday circulating among the voters in the interest of his campaign for re-election, as Limestone county is now in the Waco district since the last redistricting.

Senator Witt once represented this county in the House ten years ago when the counties of Limestone, Falls and McLennan formed a floratorial district. On the death of Senator McCullum of Waco, Mr. Witt was then absent in the army, was elected to the Senate, and at the next election was elected for a full term. He is now seeking re-election.

Senator Witt was known in the last legislature as a friend of the people and if chosen for another term we will have a real representative in the upper house of the Legislature.

TRAVIS LODGE NO. 20 ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At the meeting of Travis Lodge No. 20, Knights of Pythias, held Thursday night the following officers were elected for ensuing six months term:

Aubrey A. Kindred, C. C.
N. B. Hyden, V. C.
C. H. Machen, Prelate.
J. P. Anderson, M. of W.
David Morrow, M. at A.
Luther Cox, I. G.
J. C. Farrell, O. G.

The lodge voted a contribution of one dollar per capita (about $175) to the H. P. Brown Memorial building fund, for the purpose of building a girls' dormitory at the Pythian Home at Weatherford. This addition to the Home is badly needed to accommodate children now on the waiting list, and work on the addition will begin in a few weeks. Individual members of the Order are urged to make contributions to this worthy cause.

TEXAS DELEGATION INSULTED BY TEXAN

The mayor of Galveston went out of his way to insult the Texas delegation to the national democratic convention now in session in New York when he sent a telegram to the New York Times and published in that paper Thursday, when he said among other things:

"Unfortunately, purely through indifference, the Lone Star Empire is represented largely by the minority in the nature of a bunch of hoodlums of the hooded brigade. I was gratified to see that this bunch of un-Americans, soreheads and traitors to Old Glory were hissed. Too bad they were not run into Sheep-head Bay for keeps. 'Old Al' sounds good to me because the country needs a safe, sane, and honest leader."

It is unfortunate and regrettable that the mayor of one of our biggest cities should so far forget himself as to speak thus of his fellow citizens, at least two of whom are honored citizens of his own city, and the Galvestonians on the delegation promptly called his bluff by sending him the following telegram:

"Newspapers quote you as saying Texas represented by a bunch of hoodlums and traitors. Knowing you, and being members of the delegation, we wish to deny the insult, and the delegation desires to take action on the article. Please answer what we shall say to delegation at our expense, care McAlpin Hotel." Signed, F. C. Davis, W. L. Moody, Jr., Fred C. Pabst.

Such "peanut politics" will not help democracy in the great fight now just beginning, and Mayor Paylis E. Harris of Galveston has made no friends either for himself or his city by his mud slinging telegram.

The Texas delegation was selected by the people in convention assembled and is composed of some of the best men and women of the Lone Star State, and they with the people will resent the insult hurled at them.

The mayor of Galveston seems to have assumed the role of judge of character of Texans. His telegram to the New York Times in which he branded the Texas delegation as a bunch of hoodlums and traitors to Old Glory, is an insult to all Texans who might resent it by passing up the city by the sea while this bird is occupying the mayor's chair.

"Onward, Christian Soldiers." The fight is on with the boozers on one side and the home builders on the other. "Lay on Macduff, lay on," etc. The better element of men and women of this country will never vote for a wet candidate for president. They don't have to, because there are men available who stand for home, heaven and happiness.

The race is now on in New York with ten entries to start and perhaps there are some dark horses hid out in the political stables.

Question For Debate Changed by Request

AUSTIN, Texas, June 27.—The state executive committee of the University of Texas Interscholastic League announces through the head of the League, Roy Bedichek, a change in the debate question which was announced last spring. The question matter of inter-school athletics, but the state meeting of delegates of the League held May 2 in Austin unanimously requested that the state executive committee to change the question. Accordingly the committee has selected the following question in lieu of the one previously announced:

This question has been carefully briefed both affirmatively and negatively, a voluminous bibliography has been prepared and arguments pro and con compiled, which material will be issued in the form of a bulletin from the University Press about the first of August. The bulletin will contain more than one hundred pages and will attempt to cover the question with some degree of thoroughness.

"There will be a change in the elimination plans in the counties," said Mr. Bedichek, "which will secure, it is hoped, more public interest in this discussion as well as better training for the individual contestants. Triangular debates in the counties will be arranged wherever possible to which the public will be invited, eliminating many contesting teams previous to the county meet; so that at the county meet, instead of having a tournament to decide the county championship, there will be a final debate between two teams surviving the preliminary public contests in the respective communities of the county."

"Moreover, competing teams will be encouraged, especially in the district and bi-district eliminations, to debate the question from radio broadcasting stations. Not only will this increase the size of the audiences and thus stimulate a wider interest in this important public question, but it will be a great inspiration to the debaters to prepare themselves effectively. While a decision in each debate will be made by a competent set of judges a vote by mail of 'listeners in' will be taken. It will be interesting to compare the vote of the 'listeners' with the vote of the expert judges who actually see the teams in action. The voice, unaided by the gestures and personality of the speakers, must carry its conviction to the radio audience, and will thus tend to throw more emphasis upon voice culture and cultivate the acquisition on the part of the speakers of the 'radio voice.'"

FAMOUS ST. PAUL'S IN DANGER OF COLLAPSING

(By International News Service)
LONDON, June 25.—St. Paul's Cathedral, one of England's most famous churches and well known to all visitors to London, is in danger of collapsing, according to eminent architectural authorities.

Built more than 250 years ago by the famous Sir Christopher Wren, St. Paul's dominates half London with its enormous dome reaching to a height of nearly four hundred feet.

Authorities state that the dome has sunk several feet in the last century due to the preputal vibration set by passing traffic. Unless the sinking is immediately remedied, they say, there is a very real danger of its collapsing.

Heat Killing Chickens And Dogs In Dallas

DALLAS, Texas, June 27.—The intense heat here has had a disastrous effect on the poultry business, according to poultrymen.

Fifteen fat hens and a rooster were picked up by the garbage removal wagon at one place, victims of heat and humidity. Due to the large number of persons taking automobile rides to seek relief from the heat, numerous dogs and cats, as well as fowls, have been killed by motorists. 2000 carcasses were picked up in one day on the highways, the removal sound said.

COMRADES ASSIST MAIMED FIGHTERS IN 2 MILE MARCH

Bands, Barbecue, G. A. R. Ovation
and "Casey" Ball Feature
Annual Meeting.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 25.—Young men who went through the flames of the world war today walked proudly, though shaken, through two miles of Salt Lake city streets.

Lacking the military precision of a few years back, the crippled, the blind and the shattered were assisted along the march by comrades who had been with them when enemy lines were broken by the newly developed American Army.

It was the fourth annual parade of the Disabled American Veterans, led by National Commander James A. McFarland, of Dalton, Ga., and was made up of the delegates from chapters from every part of the country.

The disabled men were divided into fourteen divisions and were escorted by all the available Regular Army and National Guard units in this section.

Even the Grand Army of the Republic joined in the demonstration, the few remaining white haired veterans riding in automobiles and receiving an ovation that was second only to that of the younger veterans.

The parade was one of the most impressive spectacles ever held here. Despite their disabilities, few of the men failed to cover the whole route and march past the reviewing stand to the tune of gay music furnished by many bands.

The march ended at Pioneer Park, where a real buffalo barbecue was awaiting them.

Committee meetings and a convention session are scheduled for this afternoon, and tonight the delegates will attend a ball given by the Knights of Columbus.

FIRST CHINESE JUNK AT ANCHOR IN U. S. HARBOR

NEW YORK, June 25.—The strangest craft that ever cast anchor in Sheephead Bay was piloted in by Captain George Ward, a huge Dutch-Canadian skipper, who brought his Chinese wife, then eleven-year-old son and bizarre tales of adventures during their 15,000-mile trip from Amoy here via Vancouver, B. C., and the Panama Canal.

The "ship" is a fifty-three-foot Chinese junk, built of camphor wood and Chinese fir, and is held together by bamboo pins. She has an eighteen foot beam and draws four feet of water.

Ward plans to keep his vessel here for several months for sightseeing purposes and then sail for Europe.

Texas Veterinarian Returned from Calif.

PORT WORTH, Texas, June 27.—Dr. Leon Cloud, state veterinarian, has just returned from California where he put in a month of intensive study of the foot and mouth disease which has been raging there. Danger of spread of the disease to Texas caused the commission to send Dr. Cloud to get first hand information as to methods of combatting the malady.

Losses to California from this epidemic total more than $10,000,000, according to Dr. Cloud. The government has paid out more than $4,000,000 in indemnities. Fully half of the 100,000 head of cattle slaughtered in the campaign against the disease were pure bred stuff.

The chief weapon against the disease is a 30-30 rifle, Dr. Cloud said. The only safe thing is to get the infected animals under ground as quickly as possible to prevent spread of the disease. It is believed birds are partially responsible for its spread in California. The disease is now under control, according to latest reports from California, Dr. Cloud said. The only infected herd is in Merced county, and there no new infection has been found in more than a week.

J. K. HUGHES GETS 5000 BBL. WELL IN LULING FIELD

Wednesday night the J. K. Hughes Developing Company drilled in the largest producer that has been brought in in the Luling field. The well came in for an initial production of 5000 barrels actual guage and is maintaining a steady flow at a depth of about 2100 feet. This well, which is No. 15 on the Allen tract makes a total of 12 producers for the J. K. Hughes Developing Company on this tract. Their Allen No. 16 which is drilling a sure producer and makes this one of the most valuable tracts in the Luling field. This company has also erected a derrick and will drill a well for fuel purposes.

The E. L. Smith Oil Company's Cerf No. 5 in the Powell field was drilled in and completed the first of the week and has been put on the pump and is now producing at the rate of 350 barrels per day. The E. L. Smith Company has abandoned their Pippin No. 1 in Hopkins County and have moved the rig.

The East Central Texas fields have not furnished any sensational developments the past week. Only two new producers have been brought in in the Richland field and all of the completions in the Powell field have been very small. Several wells are nearing completion in the Richland field and should prove up considerable territory in that field.

Operators continue to have faith in the Hopkins County area although a deep duster was abandoned last week. The Gulf Production Company staked a location for its No. 1 W. J. Davis on the Clark survey. The Alcorn Oil Company's No. 1 Coppedge on the Hamilton survey was drilling at 3,878 feet. A rig as being built for the Bar Tex Drilling Company's No. 1 on the Waggoner survey and a rig was in place for Kelsey and others' No. 1 Brooks on the Dowell survey.

Skinner & Lykes are drilling at a depth of 3535 feet in their Barrow No. 1 Terrell survey in Kaufman County. The No. 1 Talbot being drilled by Yost and others in Rains County has been abandoned.

The McMann Oil & Gas Company have drilled their No. 8 Chapman on the Anderson survey in Navarro County to a depth of 3,070 feet. This well is reported as making 7 barrels from a sand at 3,054 feet. The Roxana Petroleum Corporation's No. 9-A McKie is swabbing 85 barrels from sand at 2,856.78 feet. The Witherspoon 9 on the Broyles survey was abandoned by the Gulf Production Company. The same company's No. 3-A McKie was making 7,000,000 feet of dry gas from a sand at 3,076 feet.

The No. 4 McKie of the Kirby Petroleum Company was swabbing 85 barrels from a sand at 2,963 feet. Their No. 5 was drilling in lime at 2,815 feet. The No. 1 Woolens on the Smith survey was pronounced dry by Lamber and others and abandoned. The Texas Company's No. 20 Kent is pumping 50 barrels. The Tidal Oil Company's Cerf Nos. 11 and 12 are swabbing 125 and 120 barrels with a large percentage of water. The Texas Company's G. Kent No. 1 Allen on the Smith survey was dry at 3,262 feet and shut down for orders.

Nothing of importance transpired in the Richland district. Travis and others' No. 2 Swink on the White survey, made 25 barrels initially from sand at 2,937.78 feet. Stroube & Stroube were due in soon with their No. 1 Davis, same survey, which was below 2,871 feet. Miller Lewis apparently had a failure in No. 1 Swink, White survey, which tested salt water at 3,023 feet and was shut down for orders. G. Moore halted No. 1 Hill.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON IX

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman
Public Education Commission, American Bankers Association.

What means has a savings depositor to prove that he has deposited his money in a bank? A person leaving his money as a deposit in a bank is given a pass book.

J. H. Puelicher

PASS BOOK—A small account book in which is written down by the bank a complete record of the deposits and other credits, the withdrawals or debits and the depositor's balance.

DEPOSITS—Money left with the bank by the depositor or some one for him creating a credit.

CREDITS—Items representing deposits or other amounts which are credited, that is, added to the customer's account; interest earned by his money is also added to his account from time to time by the bank and is a credit just as money actually deposited by him.

WITHDRAWALS—Money drawn from the bank by the depositor, or by some one duly authorized by him to do so, creating a debit.

DEBITS—Items representing amounts withdrawn which are subtracted from the depositor's balance.

BALANCE—Difference between credits and debits.

It is best to deposit savings in a bank because your money is safe; it earns more money; a systematic record is kept; it stimulates more savings and your money is always available when required.

Oil Show Huge Hit Featuring Safety First

Central Texas newest oil field at burn, John White survey, dry at 2,960 feet and was to deepen it. The Sun Oil Company had three wells near the top of the sand on the same farm where it struck a 2,864 barrel well last week, and started two others. The Hallmark Oil Company was cleaning out its No. 1 Webb, White survey, with a show of oil in sand at 2,918-52 feet. Guttman and others abandoned their No. 1 A. J. Swink on the Ross survey, as dry at 3,021 feet. The Boyd Oil Company's No. 2 Webb, White survey, made 480 barrels initially on the swab from sand at 2,937-77 feet.

Richland is attracting more than casual interest on the part of operators. Boyd-Humphreys' Webb No. 1, 485 barrels daily, Webb No. 2, 575 barrels daily, Webb No. 3, 650 barrels daily, Webb No. 4, 650 to 700 barrels daily, Webb No. 5, setting casing Webb No. 6, drilling below 500 feet, Webb No. 7, ready to set casing. ## Employees of Simms Co. To Be Insured By The Company

Simms Oil Company
Dallas, Texas,
June 18, 1924.

To All Employees:

Four years ago your present officers undertook the management of this company. At that time we had 56 oil wells, with a daily average net production (for the 3 months ending June 30, 1920) of 2384 barrels, practically all of which came from leases in the Homer field. Today your company has 245 wells, with a daily average net production of 11,541 barrels (3 months ending June 1st, 1924.) Its operations now extend over Southern Arkansas, Northern Louisiana, Central and West Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

We are justly proud of this accomplishment and deeply appreciate that such progress could not have been possible without the loyalty and co-operation of our employees.

With a desire to evidence this appreciation in some material form, your officers have arranged with the largest life insurance company in the world to provide term insurance upon the lives of all employees who, on July 1st, will have been in Company's service continuously for six months or more. Other employees will become eligible for this insurance on January 1st and July 1st of succeeding years, as they complete six months or more of continuous service. Full details of the plan will be furnished in a few days.

No medical examination will be required and the entire cost of the insurance will be borne by the company.

Cordially yours,
EDWARD T. MOORE,
President.

MEXIA CITIZEN HAVING A TIME; "DINES" WITH "COLORED LADY" AND SEES THE "PONNIES" RUN

Since my last letter your writer drove over the Lincoln Highway to Philadelphia through Bryn Mawr, just as the alumni were paying homage to their alma mater by putting on a fashion revue of the yester-years. So this makes the third College I have gone thru since seeing you and this being an exclusive girl's school I will be supposed to know much about the mysteries of the special femini in the future.

After parking my struggle buggy in Mr. Wannamaker's garage to avoid down-town traffic jams in the city of "Sleepy Hollow"—alias Philadelphia—and also seeing that Father Penn was still posing atop the City Hall where he froze some fifty years ago trying to keep step with a crippled ghost—I decided it was time to eat. As it had been over a year since I had been in an automaton I thought it afforded another close-up study of human nature and so I dropped into a new one that they have built on Market street at an out-lay of half a million dollars. I know these places are supposed to be the food resort for those who cannot afford cover charges in the great cities—still I know of no such pretentious eating place in the great state of Texas as this Automaton on Market street, Philadelphia. It is monumental in dimensions and elaborate in detail and no better food can be had. I always see the strange and curious in these how-ever and also the young fellow with his best girl that was never in an automaton before and while you eat you can enjoy life's great comedy—which is the zest of it all. Just about time though I had turned a few knobs had heard the rickles roll down the slot and the glass door drop open with its inviting viands, which in this case happened to be a hamburger in tight with sauer kraut and trimmings, a large portly creature have into view whose ancestry dates back to the Congo, and with her, came two wild-eyed kinky heads. She must have weighed four hundred in hobbled box and in the language of the automobile she had a graceful wheel-base but an exaggerated wind-shield. The only thing I am sure she could have readily made to wear would be a handkerchief. You should have seen this creature who up here they call a "colored lady." To one of her young hompals she had admonished several times not to twist the handle off the other she yelled, "Chile that's no Ford you're crankin' go away." And what do you think, when all was set and lovely she landed at my table—cargoe—perfume not of the rose and two trays loaded with food. The old Southern negro is entirely different from this "jungle variety" and recalling that I was in Rome I held my temper shifted into high and telling her she was out of her place I landed in the furthest on people direction—over where the music cut-wheeled the "Jungle de Africa."

The next morning on my way to wholesale row I dropped into Independence Hall and again stood near the table where the Declaration of Independence was signed—there with the pen and ink—well as it was that even the day of 1776. All this in the room of Continental Congress where all different ones that brought forth a new nation and the greatest were held. Then back at the end of the hall was the Liberty Bell—shining in her beauty and elegant in her silence. Muffled as if in reverent and standing there in awe, as if wondering if her people did not want to hear her "cracked voice" proclaiming liberty.

But with much been forgotten in many different ways by her progeny. Strange to say, just this sort of scene as the Philadelphia which by historic rights belongs to the people of this nation and occupies an entire city block—there in the presence of a great one without even a flower as a shrub to adorn its memorable scene.

Some one should awaken Philadelphia from her slumber and remind her of the fact that history and romance—the life and treasure and the blood of a great nation ebbs and flows thru the portals of this historic shrine. Then traveling fast thru the maze of a security I landed at the Taberna race track. Here is where all the great thoroughbreds make your blood tingle with the crash of the horses' hoofs and the soft laugh of those fast travel the race. It is indeed a place in human nature. On leaving the hotel I found what was the best way to get to the famous sporting ground. I found that one had his choice between a cedar taxi fare while enjoying the drama of Omar and Egypt or taking a chance at securing in the Tanagerillo trolley at five cents. The latter prevailed to me for it is with the man in the street that the folk are most deserving of light and shadow, and I was amply paid for the decision. I found the great throng at the starting and landed in a car on the back of them—ending next to the conductor. It wasn't long before he found I was an American veteran, who had a lost Galby in Texas—in Houston—where none was (Charles Hall—a newspaper man of Houston) who saved this man's life one day in No. 100's Ford in or near the Argonne. It was out where a man's life wasn't worth a cable's flicker. It happened on the 7th of November, 1918, and the amputation was started on the 11th. The last he saw of Sharlie Hall was the good-bye he gave him on the 7th with the hiss of the 75s and the gleam of cold steel playing hid-in-seek with his heart. He doesn't know—Charlie may be tating ruffles for the Angel's negligees and again he may be in Houston pounding out copy. I took his name and address and don't it be wonderful if I can locate the conductor's buddy for him—who he had written many times with never a line in return. He told me he would gladly part with a precious hundred dollar bill to hear from Charlie Hall. Shortly we drew up to the portals of this great race track, with the din and clamor of America's sporting life playing a tattoo on your nerves you would never forget. It was here that in Memoriam and the great Zev fought a fight that only thoroughbreds backed by their masters' millions can stage. Just as I stepped on the inside a red-headed tout of the spring garden variety thrust a "confidential tip" into my hand and asked for fifty cents. In order to test out a few of the "inside" lights I produced—he thanked me with the smile of a Chesterfield and told me to keep it "dark." Then on out thru the grand stand to the paddocks and with the crowds in its excitement and expectation—expectation of ill gotten gold. It was a wonderful day for the sport of kings with a clear sky and the Jockey Club grounds a riot of color and a vision of pastoral beauty. An emerald lake shimmering in the sun sparkles in flawless grandeur—the hedges of a green frame done in nature's own shrubs borders the lake and reaching from their foot stool a carpet of blue grass rolls up to the white posts of the track fence. On the bosom of a June breeze is wafted to your eager ears the call of the bugle while in the midst of the glowing picture Old Glory from a lofty flag pole salutes her countrymen at play. At the call of the bugle the ponies came sauntering to the post, with the changing colors of each jockey flashing a promise of performance in the bright sunlight. There all about me was "America on parade"—the painted lady, who was there every day, with her diamonds and spun silk glistening in vaulted pews, elbowing her would be son of jade luck with his plaid shirt and flowered collar, who had also made it his avocation to come and take a toss at the God of Luck. Then the man of family, the office boy, the girl "steno," who had the rough and dirty urchin who knew the ponies and had a special tip on the previous day's workout. It all formed one vast sea of surging humanity, numbering into the thousands, on whose faces were written the tale of all ages all hopes and all despair. While drinking in the rabble of an excited crowd on "Luck Boulevard" I heard as if with one voice—"They're Off!"—and out there on the track flashed by as if in one giant body the prismatic array of jockey colors with the distended nostrils of their mounts all eager for the final goal. Round the first quarter and on and finally down the home stretch. I have thought that baseball furnished the supreme excitement and brought forth all the latent energy of America at play, but not so. Gabriel must have awakened from his slumbers rubbed his eyes in daze wonderment and put in a hurry call for the hot squad when the echo reached his ears—for it rang in rolls of thunder from the hills of Old Kentucky back through the valley of the winding Ohio and carried hope laden with the anvil chorus of twenty thousand throats to the ears of those plunging beasts urged on by whip and spur. Then at the final flash—the shout of gain or the sigh of loss. It was one vast panorama of nature casting the gauntlet to chance.

"SUNSHINE" MARY ANDERSON ARRIVED IN CITY

Mary Anderson, noted screen celebrity arrived today and will appear in Person tonight at the Opera House with her latest picture, "Wildness of Youth." The picture opened here last night and all that witnessed it think it a wonderful production and love Mary in it, but were disappointed at Mary's being absent. She regrets very much, that on account of illness in Dallas, she was unable to appear here yesterday, but will now try and make up for her absence.

She was the guest of the Lions club at their luncheon today and gave a brief chat on her profession. Mary was met at the station by Mr. Browder of the Buick Company, Mexia's Commissioner and Dr. M. M. Brown, vice president of the Mexia Lions Club, and her Business Manager, Milton Wood of Hollywood. She went immediately to her hotel to make ready for her appearance before the Lions. Now Mary has dimples and plenty of smiles and this is the reason they call her "Sunshine," as she don't misrepresent the title. She will be here for three days and will be glad to meet everybody in Mexia.

KING TRIES KARNAK AND GAINS 13 POUNDS

"Nearly everybody I see is boosting Karnak and I am boosting it too, for it has put me back on my feet, feeling like a new man all over and with a gain of thirteen pounds," said Mr. Wm. L. King at 122 Helen Ave., San Antonio, popular salesman for a big packing house. "I am not much of a hand to take medicines," continued Mr. King, "but I got so everything I ate felt like a lump of lead in my stomach and I would suffer from head-aches and heartburn for hours after every meal. I became so weak and run-down all over that it was all I could do to stay on the job, and I knew something had to be done. My brother-in-law had taken Karnak with such fine results he insisted on me taking it and the way it has fixed me up, is little short of astonishing. I eat and sleep like a trooper, feel fine and full of energy, and am tip-top in every way. Karnak can't be beat." Karnak is sold in Mexia by the Mexia Drug Co.—(Adv.)

HAPPY THRIFT

HAPPY thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You can depend upon home furnishings, clothes, foods you see pictured and described everywhere. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again! And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

When you keep an eye on advertisements, you save right. You buy what you think you buy.

Advertisements remove the blindfold from buying—read them carefully.

Editor Often Taken For Mere Newsboy

AMARILLO, Texas, June 27.—J. Paul Glenson, Oklahoma's youngest editor, admits that he is sometimes mistaken for a newsboy when he carries papers under his arm, but for two years he has successfully managed the Southwest Wheat Grower, said to be the largest wheat market publication in the country. Glenson is just 21. When the big wheat pools were organized and the state was being scoured for an editor of the co-operative paper, he offered his services and was turned down because he was too young. Then he offered to run it without pay for three months to prove that he could hold down the post. He has been on the job for two years now, and is regarded as an authority on co-operative marketing.

and have no defect, they can do a great deal of work without becoming unduly tired. If, in the other hand, they are even slightly defective, very little effort causes eyestrain with its resultant fatigue and discomfort. The human eye is really a very delicate, living, optical instrument. It often stands much abuse and makes strenuous but futile efforts to itself correct its imperfections. It should be about twenty-four millimeters, or about one inch in length, and, if it is either longer or shorter, than perfect, comfortable vision is unlikely.

It is wise to consult an optometrist. He will find: first, his eyes are carefully examined with instruments of the greatest precision. A trained optometrist, by means of these instruments, can determine whether or not glasses are needed and exactly the kind of glass that is needed. Further, he can do this without asking you a single question. Wonderful! you say. No, just the result of science and the labor of many years.

nance its act and deed, and will make such ordinance its order for such election, all of which will be evidenced by the signature of the members of said Charter Commission appended hereto under the words: "APPROVED BY CHARTER COMMISSION"; therefore, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF MEXIA, TEXAS:

Section 1. That an election shall be held in the City of Mexia, Texas, on the 7th day of July, 1924, at which the following proposition shall be submitted:

"Shall the charter reported by the Charter Commission to the City Commission of the City of Mexia, Texas, on the 27th day of May, 1924, and which had been prepared by the Charter Commission duly elected by the qualified voters of the city of the 18th day of March, 1924, be adopted as the charter of the City of Mexia, Texas, as contemplated and authorized by the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas, including Chapter 147, Acts of 1913, Regular Session?"

Section 2. That the polling places and presiding officers of said election shall be, respectively as follows: the polling place shall be at the City Hall, in the City of Mexia, and W. B. Kendrick is hereby designated as presiding officer.

Section 3. That said election shall be held under the provisions of Chapter 147, Acts of 1913, Regular Session, and all persons qualified to vote in said City under the laws of this State regulating general elections shall be allowed to vote.

Section 4. That the manner of holding said election shall be governed by the general laws of the State of Texas, regulating general elections, when not in conflict with the provisions of the law hereinabove referred to.

Section 5. All voters desiring to adopt a charter so prepared and reported by the Charter Commission shall have printed on their ballot the following:

OFFICIAL BALLOT
"For the adoption of the Charter prepared by the Charter Commission duly elected on the 18th day of March, 1924, and which was reported by said Charter Commission to the City Commission of the City of Mexia on the 27th day of May, 1924."

And those opposed shall have on their ballots the following:

"Against the adoption of the Charter prepared by the Charter Commission duly elected on the 18th day of March, 1924, and which was reported by said Charter Commission to the City Commission of the City of Mexia on the 27th day of May, 1924."

Section 6. That the action of the aforesaid Charter Commission in calling the election for the purpose hereinabove stated, and in all other respects with reference to the framing and submitting of such proposed charter, are hereby ratified and confirmed, and the said Charter Commission, or the members thereof, shall ratify and confirm all things done by the present City Commission of the City of Mexia, Texas, with respect to the matters and things dealt with in this ordinance, and shall make the same their act and deed by subscribing their respective names hereunto under the caption, "APPROVED BY CHARTER COMMISSION," and such names as are subscribed shall be published as a part of this ordinance.

Section 7. A copy of this ordinance shall be sufficient notice of said election, and thirty (30) days notice of the time and place of holding the said election shall be given by posting certified copies thereof at the places designated for holding said election at least thirty (30) days prior to the holding of said election, and by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) full days from date of election.

Section 8. The fact that the City of Mexia is at the present time without a charter and that the public interests require the adoption of a charter, creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity for the suspension of the rules requiring ordinances to be read upon more than one day and for the immediate taking effect of this ordinance, and such rules are hereby suspended, and it is ordained that this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval.

Passed and approved this 27th day of May, 1924.

The London home of Lady Ludlow, whose first husband was Sir Julius Wernher, diamond king, has been robbed of jewels valued at $250,000, believed to be the most stupendous robbery on record. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, pastor of the Church of St. Marks-in-the-Bowwerie, in New York, leader of the modernists in the Protestant Episcopal Church, has finally bowed to the orders of Bishop Manning and eliminated the so-called pagan dances and similar affairs that had been featured in his historic church. Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., world-famous surgeon, told delegates to the American Medical Association convention in Chicago that spleen removal in future would supplant removal of the appendix in the hour for the sake of the human frame. Arthur Lehman, New York banker, has given $200,000 to Harvard University for an administration building.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Below: KING GEORGE OF GREECE, RAMSAY MACDONALD, John H. Clarke & M. Herriot.

Premiers Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, and M. Herriot, of France, have reached a complete accord on the Dawes reparations plan and will call an allied conference in the middle of July to accept it. Ex-King George of Greece has left his exile in Bucharest, Rumania, and gone to Paris to get a job as secretary after having found it impossible, he says, to live on the $100,000 allowance him by the Greek Government. Former United States Supreme Court Justice John H. Clarke, in a speech in New York, declared that unless some substitute was speedily found for war the social order of the United States, its religion and its civilization would be destroyed.

...ing citizens and these will be invited "through the air" by the radio stations.

McADOO'S SUN GROWING BRIGHTER TODAY

SMITH SHOW OVER
WORK CONTINUES
FOR NOMINATIONCONFIDENT THAT McADOO IS BEATEN.

They Claim The Earth

And Would Extend Sidewalks
New York to Washington.

By PERCY B. SCOTT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 27.—Having staged their "show," the managers of Alfred E. Smith's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination went to work again today to bring to fruition their plan of extending the sidewalks of New York to Washington.

Confident that Wm. G. McAdoo is beaten, and equally confident that they have sufficient votes to nominate their candidate, the Smith men today claimed the empire state governor would "go over on the tenth ballot."

They were enthusiastic over their first skirmish with the forces of the Californian late yesterday in which they forced an adjournment until today when the Westerner and his backers wanted a night session. As a result of this showdown, the New Yorkers are claiming that it strengthened their forces in a moral way materially, and that actually it brought to their standard a majority of Connecticut delegation which has heretofore been conceded to McAdoo.

Actually the fight was between the McAdoo group on the one side and all the anti-McAdoo men on the other, but it was engineered and captained by the New Yorkers.

The Governor planned to keep in touch with the convention by telephone today. Suffering from an intestinal trouble, Smith was not at his headquarters during the morning and planned to direct his forces from his suite in the hotel Biltmore.

Another Foreign
Fighter Knocked Out

NEW YORK, June 27.—From over a round the English channel has come another fighting machine with a heart and an iron jaw—Ted Moore.

For fifteen rounds last night, he stayed on while 40,000 fight fans urged Harry Greb, middleweight champion, to put over the knockout. It was the feature event of the Milk Fund show at the Yankee Stadium and Moore lost the decision in 15 rounds but won plaudits by his gameness.

In the semi windup Ermino Spalla, the European heavyweight champion got smashed with everything Gene Tunney offered for seven rounds and the bout was ended. The referee gave Tunney a technical knockout.

Officials gave Young Stribling of Georgia, the decision over Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, in six rounds. The crowd boomed.

Only one title changed hands, that of Colored middleweight champion. Larrie Esteridge won it from Panama Joe Gans after 10 rounds of vicious boxing. Gans was almost out twice.

TODAY'S CONVENTION PROGRAM

Convenes 10:30 a. m.
Invocation by Rev. Dr. Dwight W. Wylie, Central Presbyterian church. Resumption of roll call for nomination and seconding speeches.

Probable balloting for presidential candidate, or presentation of platform tonight.

Those to be placed in nomination today: Gov. Selzer of New Jersey; Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, James M. Cox of Ohio; Senator Carter Glass of Virginia; John W. Davis, West Virginia.

ENGLAND STILL TRYING TO BEAT AMERICANS

CALCUTTA, June 27.—Major Stuart MacLaren left Rangoon for Bangkok this morning continuing his effort to beat the United States army's planes in the flight around the world.

MacLaren is confident he still has a chance to beat the American fliers. "The Americans aren't near around the world yet," he said.

THAT DOESN'T HAPPEN HERE

EL PASO, Texas, June 27.—Jose Pedillo, Mexican youth, was shot and killed by soldiers in Juarez when he failed to observe the traffic signals while driving an automobile. The body was brought to El Paso.

Bread Cast Upon The Waters Returns Today

DODGE CITY, Kans., June 27.—Bread cast upon the waters by business men in Kansas City, Chicago and other large Midwest centers in the form of a subscription of $500,000 for impoverished farmers of Western Kansas to purchase seed wheat a year ago, returned today.

The contributors were taken on a 120-mile tour through the Kansas wheat belt and shown the finest crop of grain the state has boasted in five years. Tonight they will be given a prairie chicken dinner by C. C. Isley, miller of Dodge City.

Isley promised a year ago when the seed wheat contribution was made that if a good crop resulted, he would stage the party for the donors. He made good today.

LESS TALKING AND MORE VOTING
NEEDED

By SENATOR C. O. DILL

United States Senator from Wash.
(Written for the United Press)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 27.—What this convention needs most right now is some means to stop the orgy of speech making. Everybody who hasn't spoken has had enough.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech for Al Smith Thursday was the best yet made in the convention, but like the others, it was too long. At the beginning of the convention a rule was adopted limiting nominating speeches to twenty minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes; but everybody, including Senator Walsh the chairman has forgotten it.

These convention speeches are longer than those we have in the United States Senate. The worst of it is that after every speech there is a demonstration which lasts longer than the speech.

The Smith demonstration Thursday was so tremendous and so stirring that all the rest of the demonstrations will seem like imitations. There was a time too when some real orator might have stirred the delegates to genuine enthusiasm but they are so fed up it is doubtful if anyone can do so.

Why do speakers who address national political conventions destroy their own opportunities for making a big impression by talking too long? No convention orator ever swept up to the heights of oratorical glory by making a long speech. Why do those who are not orators fail to remember that and thereby save their hearers many weary hours.

Ingersoll's speech nominating Blaine, contained less than 2,000 words. Bryan's "cross of gold" speech took less than 30 minutes.

Tom Reed of Maine, better known as "Czar Reed" of the House of Representatives, never spoke more than 20 minutes. The greatest preachers agree that no souls are saved after the first 30 minutes of preaching. Just so the McAdoo and Smith adherents will make no more votes by speeches and demonstrations. If there is no other way to stop these long speeches and demonstrations, Chairman Walsh might have the galleries cleared and enforce the 20 and 5 minute rule so the convention can go home before fall.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 27.—O. C. Killan, city fireman, suffered several broken ribs when he was struck in the chest by the nozzle of a hose while fighting a blaze. High water pressure blew the nozzle off the hose and it struck Killan's chest.

Madison Square Garden, scene of many famous combats, was hte chosen stage for a great battle when the backers of McAdoo, Smith, Davis, Underwood and a squadron of dark horses met to nominate Democracy's standard bearer in November.

NOW LOOKING FOR DARK
HORSEBy ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—W. G. McAdoo and Gov. Al Smith have had their days and some half dozen other candidates were waiting at the post for the get-away gun this morning as the fourth session of the Democratic national convention began.

By the first test vote cast late yesterday on a question of adjournment, the anti-McAdoo forces showed that they were sufficiently cohesive to beat McAdoo out of a two-thirds majority for the nomination if that is their prime objective.

By a similar token the great demonstrations for Smith, staged at intervals through the long session yesterday showed the most the New York executive can hope for is the vote of some 15 states and territories, totaling 424 votes, far short of enough to nominate.

As a result the different delegation leaders this morning, were considering the future on the basis that McAdoo was eliminated, that only a stampede could nominate Smith and that the party leader must be selected from outside the list of those most discussed as strong possibilities. John W. Davis, according to those measuring the availability of conditions, would not be able to withstand the attacks of Wm. Jennings Bryan. Senator Underwood, they say, is not to be seriously considered and for the moment, the list of potential "dark horses" has dwindled, on the eve of the balloting, to the following:

Senator Thomas Walsh, Newton D. Baker and Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

But in the background stands James M. Cox of Ohio, the standard bearer of four years ago. Cox made a gallant fight in that campaign against the devastating odds of a situation in which the dominant issue was desire for a change, and in which, for one reason or another, he could not command the financial support of the mainstays of the party.

Many of the delegates who attended the 1920 convention at San Francisco which nominated Cox, believe he should be given another chance—a real try, under more favorable circumstances.

SHRINE ENTERTAINS CRIPPLES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 27.—Lu Lu Temple gave a special matinee of their Spring Fashion Show at which 600 orphans and crippled children were the guests. Albert A. Ladner, Jr., illustrious Potentate of the Temple received the little guests and assisted in carrying them into the auditorium. Each child received a gift of candy.

Klan Is Big Issue As Fourth
Convention Session Opens

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 27.—The Ku Klux Klan as a political issue completely dominated the convention as delegates gathered for the fourth session.

McAdoo forces hope to continue the fight within the resolutions committee against naming the Klan long enough to force balloting before the platform is adopted.

McAdoo has the greatest early delegate strength and his followers believe with a good showing through several ballots they can force the platform framers to eliminate reference to the Klan.

The name of James M. Cox was placed in nomination by Newton D. Baker. The fact that Mississippi yielded to Ohio on the roll call, and that Pat Harrison was one of Cox's leaders four years ago, gave rise to the belief that Harrison has decided to support Cox again. Baker's speech was interrupted by frequent hand clapping. He denounced the Klan and appealed for the League of Nations. A small demonstration was started for Cox at the conclusion of Baker's speech.

Eugene O. Sullivan of Omaha then nominated Governor Charles Bryan of Nebraska. He referred to Coolidge as an "accidental president."

Indications now that there will be a night session. Governor Silzer of New Jersey was placed in nomination and then Governor Brown of New Hampshire. Other speakers made short nominating speeches.

KLAN FIGHT ON FLOOR CERTAIN

A fight on the convention floor over the Klan was made certain this afternoon when the sub-committee drafting the platform voted 10 to 4 to submit a plank to the full committee denouncing the principles of the Klan but not naming it. The four members demanding that the Klan be named will submit a minority report and the flood gates of debate will be opened. A floor fight on the League of Nations plank is also certain.

Newton D. Baker declared if his plank is not adopted he will make a minority report and carry the fight to the floor. Leaders agreed to hold a night session at 8:00 o'clock tonight in case the platform committee is ready to report. However, it looks as if it won't be ready, in which case the convention will adjourn, after nominating speeches are made, until tomorrow morning.

McAdoo supporters decided that they would not attempt to hold a night session to start balloting in case the platform is not ready.

RADIO SPEELER ACCUSED OF TAKING
SIDESBy FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—Major J. A. White, who is broadcasting the Democratic convention for the Radio Corporation, sends his respects to the Ku Klux Klan.

If they don't like what's going on in Madison Square Garden, they needn't write to him about it.

Major White is in receipt of numerous hot epistles from Klan sympathizers in all parts of the country. They object to his description of the big anti-Klan demonstration on Wednesday. The writers accused him of partiality and other things not so nice. They even threatened, in some cases, to do something about it. Many telegraphed their protests.

As official broadcaster, Major White says he proposes to tell the world just what's going on at the Garden, and let who will be clever.

There are lots of funny things in Major White's mail bag every day, now that the convention is on.

The letters show the way the country is reacting to the convention.

People write in and accuse the broadcaster of being "pro-Smith" when he turns on the microphones and lets loose over the ether a great blast of cheering for Al and then tells them about the parade around the hall with the bands playing "The Sidewalks of New York."

Then others write in and complain he is giving McAdoo the best of it. They know, they say, because they checked up on him in the paper.

The "listeners in" of the South think he's favoring the North and vice versa.

Smith Rally Frame-Up

Klan Plank May Abrogate The Unit Rule.By A. GARLAND ADAIR
(Special to the Mexia Daily News)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27.—McAdoo has a better chance today than at any time since the convention started, though only a fighting chance at that. His followers are much elated at the showing made when the vote was taken Thursday as to recess or adjournment. Al Smith boosters and all states with favorite sons voted to adjourn by only a few more than McAdoo, showing surprising strength possible inroads into favorite sons' states.

Not a rock-ribbed democratic state participated in the Smith mighty demonstration Thursday. It was a display by republican states and a tribute of the home folks to their own.

Texas is much encouraged and firm for McAdoo and Owsley.

When the galleries shouted "oil" when Hays made a masterful McAdoo seconding speech Congressman Upshaw retorted: "Rather have oil than liquor."

McAdoo stands for the rights of peaceful organizations and lawful assemblies, which is as far as he has gone in the direction of the Klan subject.

If a report on the Klan plank by name is brought in by the minority, states will likely be released from the unit rule and will count noses.

Anti-Klansmen control the democratic party in the east, especially New York, while Klan strength here is greatest in the republican party.

LaFollette Would
Reorganize Populists

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—A call summoning supporters of the old populist party of the nineties to the "third party" political convention here July 4, was issued today by La Follette supporters.

It was a definite move in the program by the conference for progressive political action, sponsoring the third party meeting to unite all the progressive groups of the nation behind Senator Robert M. La Follette for his independent race for the presidency.

The call was issued here by W. H. Bennington, one of the leaders of the Populist movement in Kansas, where the party was born.

ENTERTAINED WITH DANCING

A party of friends were entertained at the Roseland last night by the artistic dancing of little Misses Mary Elvin and Jewell Hopkins of Dallas who, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Hopkins, are spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Brice and family. The little girls have exceptional talent, Mary Elvin, who is only 10 years of age, having been on the Majestic circuit for some time. They will dance again at the Roseland tomorrow night.

PLATFORM FRAMERS HAVING A HARD TIME TO PLEASE EVERYBODY

By PAUL B. MALLON

U. P. HEADQUARTERS, Waldorf Hotel, New York, June 27.—The resolutions committee of the Democratic convention today swung into its third day of labor in an attempt to draft planks covering the Ku Klux Klan and League of Nations.

So bitter has the Klan situation become that leaders desire to avert a fight on the issue on the floor of the convention at all costs.

Dragging of the Klan debate to the floor, it is recognized might split the party wide open, so heated have the contending factions become.

Advocates of a strong endorsement of entrance into the League of Nations are equally insistent with the anti-Klan leaders that such a league plank be adopted.

As a result of the delicate situation, the full resolutions committee, after long hours of weary haggling, voted at 3:30 a. m. today to turn the talk of grafting planks to cover the two major issues back to the drafting sub-committee.

This sub-committee worked most of Wednesday night and Thursday, night drawing up the platform. The members could not agree on the Klan and league planks. Hence, they submitted to the full committee last night, alternate planks covering both questions. The full committee could not agree and the efforts must now continue to effect a compromise.

As the members of the resolution committee trudged wearily to their hotel rooms just before dawn today the convention was but little nearer to an agreement on the Klan issue than it was several days back, when the question of the stand that should be taken toward the hooded order first came cracking about the ears of the convention leaders.

One faction demands open denunciation of the Klan by name. A second would declare for religious freedom and denounce interference with these rights in general terms.

With respect to the league, one faction demands that the party be committed to America's entrance in event of Democratic victory. Another would endorse the league in principle, but make no commitment without a national referendum.

Between these two extremes on both issues, the resolutions committee now hopes to find a compromise that will be accepted without a convention floor struggle.

Pursuant to the instructions of the full committee the drafting committee will now meet at 11 a. m. today and will report the results of its renewed labors to the full committee at 2 p. m. this afternoon. If the sub-committee is able to write compromise planks that are acceptable, then it is hoped that the final action may be taken by the full committee during the afternoon, and the platform be presented to the convention at an after-dinner session tonight.

As a result of the full committee conference last night, the task of the drafting members today is to take the alternate planks submitted yesterday and so combine them that they will be acceptable to all extreme factions. Under this plan, then, the new planks would: Denounce the Klan by name, but so soften the language as to cause as little trouble as possible.

Endorse the league policies of Woodrow Wilson, but avoid pledging America's immediate entrance.

Such a course, while it does not meet the unanimous approval of the committee is now favored by leaders as the best way to preserve peace.

Here's what the committee decided to submit for automatic adoption by the convention:

Farm Relief? Modified endorsement of the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill including expressions against actual price-fixing by the government.

Railroad: Declaration for repeal of Section 15-A of the Esch-Cummings Act. This is the rate-making section which guarantees the roads a return of 5.24 per cent upon their investment. Call for revision of the law under which the Rail Labor Board operates.

Tariff: Denunciation of the high Fordney-McCumber tariff blaming it for the farmers economic ills and pledging substantially lower rates.

Industry regulations: Pledging the party to regulate the coal industry for lower prices.

Taxation: Declaration for 40 per cent sur tax and lower rates on incomes of less than $5,000 with a fiery denunciation of the Mellon plan.

War Referendum: The Bryan plank urging that all the nations of the world join in a program for declaration of war only after a national referendum.

The prohibition plank calls for law enforcement without mentioning the Eighteenth Amendment.

FASHION PRESCRIBES A SCARF A DAY

There is nothing monotonous about the vogue of the scarf, because it is as infinite in its variety as its feminine wearer. A scarf a day is prescribed by fashion, and we may be gay Monday, pensive Tuesday, demure Wednesday, and so on around the week.

This scarf and hat set sketched in Paris by Cheney is evidently worn on a dignified day. It attains a very rich effect with the "ton sur ton" brown printed crepe scarf trimmed with narrow bands of coral pink crepe worked in squares. The same trimming is used on the brown bangkok hat.

SKETCH CHENEY

WHAT DID THE "HOOT" MEAN FOR WILLS?

By FRANK GETTY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Coming events sometimes cast their shadows, as well as shadows, before them.

Two men, one a tall, chocolate-colored negro with steam rising from his sleek sides, the other shorter by a head, white-fleshed, both spattered with blood from the latter's wounds, panted and tugged and wrestled across a white splotch of canvas, kicking up clouds of resin with shuffling feet.

A glare of lights beat down mercilessly upon their straining forms, while all around was ebony black by contrast, save where dots of lighted cigars and cigarettes flickered like fire-flies across the panorama of half-teen faces.

No sound save the grunts of the fighters, the shifting feet, the slap and thud of blows on glove and shoulder; no cheers, because the negro was cutting the white man to ribbons.

From afar, way up on an elevated trestle that ran the stadium, came a clear, warning "Hoot-hoot" from a moving train. It cut through the comparative quiet of that June night like a knife. The crowd laughed, breaking the tension.

But to Harry Wills, steaming and straining there under the lights, the "hoot-h-o-o-t" must have sounded ominously like another "hoot" he once knew well—the "hoot-hoot" of the old Mississippi steamboat passing the levee.

If it's true that coming events cast their shadows, like their shadows, before—then Harry Wills heard something when far-away "L" train whistled like a steamboat coming round the bend. Because Harry used to be a stevedore down in New Orleans, and right now it looks as though that was what and where he isn't going to be much of anything else but.

The negro may meet Firpo, but it won't draw a big gate.

When Wills failed to stop courageous little Bartley Madden that night in June he cost himself and a lot of other folks a lot of money.

He cost his venerable old mentor Paddy Mullins, who has stuck by him through thick and thin, the manager's share of the losing end of at least one big purse. He cost Tex Rickard money; perhaps he cost Jack Dempsey money.

But Wills couldn't help it. He just couldn't fight and abide by the rules at one and the same time. He knew the rules and observed them, for the first 12 rounds. He was woefully ineffective as a result.

FRED KLEINSCHMIDT SAYS TANLAC CORRECTED TROUBLE IN TWO WEEKS' TIME.

"I regard Tanlac as a unusual tonic and can honestly say it met every need in my case," is the matter of fact statement of Fred Kleinschmidt, 1925 Chippewa St., New Orleans, widely known deputy sheriff.

"Indigestion and nervousness had troubled me for years. As a result my body weakened and my energy about all left me. Frequently my sleep was restless and unsound and I felt tired out much of the time.

"After two weeks' use of Tanlac my stomach was in condition to where I could eat ravenously of everything and not feel a touch of indigestion. In three weeks' time Tanlac had me in tip-top shape in every way. It toned up my whole system, brought back my strength and energy, and left me feeling years younger."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

K. C. HAIL STORM KILLS ONE AND INJURES MORE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 27.—One was killed and seven injured today in the most severe rain, hail and wind storm experienced in Kansas City in a decade. Rain fell in sheets, flooding streets and basements and causing streams to rise to flood stages.

The Missouri river registered 20 feet, twice its normal depth, and the Kaw river rose rapidly. Small streams were out of their banks. Torrents rushed down the streets, sweeping out pavements in blocks and tying up traffic. Autos trying to make their way through the blinding rain were stalled when the pavement buckled beneath them, and was swept away in large chunks.

The storm was largely local in the Kansas City area.

Everybody Happy Including Pat At End of First Day

By C. C. DILL
U. S. Senator from Washington
(Written for United Press.)
NEW YORK, June 25.—Everybody's happy. That's the end of a perfect first convention day.
Pat Harrison smiled and smiled while he played the double role of hero to the Democratic and villain to the Republicans.
He is an instructed delegate and the friends of every candidate found much in what he said to prove that their particular candidate is exactly the man to nominate.
Harrison had a chance to place himself in line for the nomination if the convention should deadlock and find it necessary to break to a new candidate but he didn't. Everybody praised him but not enough to justify a presidential nomination. He pictured the Republican dark, inefficient and corrupt but failed to inspire his audience with the vision of a promised land or with confidence that he could lead the American people to it if there were one.
The delegates found the great hall most agreeable. They never before saw so many flags in one place. Then the thousands of fluttering little flags falling like confetti from between the stripes of the monster flag overhead while the band played and everybody sang the Star Spangled Banner, gave them a complete thrill.
Being the opening day everybody was glad to see everybody else. Even the McAdoo and Smith delegates smiled at each other and shook hands cordially. That might have been much like prize fighters shaking hands before they begin pummeling one another, but Harrison's speech made them so happy that they almost forgot for a little while that they were made to fight instead of celebrating.

So they applauded and stood up and sat down and applauded some more during the first ten minutes, but when the Mississippian began quoting statistics, most of the delegates turned in their seats to study the flag decorations and locate the seating of the different State delegations.
He called back their attention with mention of Paul Revere and Woodrow Wilson and then the leaders staged a parade while Harrison rested and everybody wondered whether or not he was done.
Again he lost the attention of the vast throng by discussing the League of Nations but brought cheers with prediction of victory in the fall so that with the beginning and end of his speech everybody was happy.

FIVE MILLIONS TO HARVARD
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—(Scottish Rite News Bureau.)—The magnificent gift of five million dollars to Harvard University is widely acclaimed in educational circles, as another indication of the importance education is coming to have in the eyes of big business and big business men. In making the gift, George F. Baker wrote to Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts, as follows:
"As I told you, I am much impressed with the undertaking Harvard is making to raise a fund for enlarging and perfecting certain branches of its activities. I am especially impressed with the determination to make the graduate school of business administration of the very first importance in the country.

SENATOR EDGAR WITT PAYS MEXIA A VISIT
State Senator Edgar E. Witt of Waco was in Mexia Thursday circulating among the voters in the interest of his campaign for re-election, as Limestone county is now in the Waco district since the last re-districting.
Senator Witt once represented this county in the House ten years ago when the counties of Limestone, Falls and McLennan formed a floratorial district. On the death of Senator McCullum of Waco, Mr. Witt was then absent in the army, was elected to the Senate, and at the next election was elected for a full term. He is now seeking re-election.
Senator Witt was known in the last legislature as a friend of the people and if chosen for another term we will have a real representative in the upper house of the Legislature.

TRAVIS LODGE NO. 20 ELECTS NEW OFFICERS
At the meeting of Travis Lodge No. 20, Knights of Pythias, held Thursday night the following officers were elected for ensuing six months term:
Aubrey A. Kindred, C. G.
N. B. Hyden, V. C.
C. H. Machen, Prelate.
J. P. Anderson, M. of W.
David Morrow, M. at A.
Luther Cox, I. G.
J. C. Farrell, O. G.
The lodge voted a contribution of one dollar per capita (about $175) to the H. P. Brown Memorial building fund, for the purpose of building ing a girls' dormitory at the Pythian Home at Weatherford. This addition to the Home is badly needed to accommodate children now on the waiting list, and work on the addition will begin in a few weeks. Individual members of the Order are urged to make contributions to this worthy cause.

TEXAS DELEGATION INSULTED BY TEXAN

The mayor of Galveston went out of his way to insult the Texas delegation to the national democratic convention now in session in New York when he sent a telegram to the New York Times and published in that paper Thursday, when he said among other things:

"Unfortunately, purely through indifference, the Lone Star Empire is represented largely by the minority in the nature of a bunch of hoodlums of the hooded brigade. I was gratified to see that this bunch of un-Americans, soreheads and traitors to Old Glory were hissed. Too bad they were not run into Sheepshead Bay for keeps. 'Old Al' sounds good to me because the country needs a safe, sane, and honest leader."

It is unfortunate and regrettable that the mayor of one of our biggest cities should so far forget himself as to speak thus of his fellow citizens, at least two of whom are honored citizens of his own city, and the Galvestonians on the delegation promptly called his bluff by sending him the following telegram:

"Newspapers quote you as saying 'Texas represented by a bunch of hoodlums and traitors. Knowing you, and being members of the delegation, we wish to deny the insult, and the delegation desires to take action on the article. Please answer what we shall say to delegation at our expense, care McAlpin Hotel.' Signed, F. C. Davis, W. L. Moody, Jr., Fred C. Pabst."

Such "peanut politics" will not help democracy in the great fight now just beginning, and Mayor Baylis E. Harris of Galveston has made no friends either for himself or his city by his mud slinging telegram.

The Texas delegation was selected by the people in convention assembled and is composed of some of the best men and women of the Lone Star State, and they with the people will resent the insult hurled at them.

The mayor of Galveston seems to have assumed the role of judge of character of Texans. His telegram to the New York Times in which he branded the Texas delegation as a bunch of hoodlums and traitors to Old Glory, is an insult to all Texans who might resent it by passing up the city by the sea while this bird is occupying the mayor's chair.

"Onward, Christian Soldiers." The fight is on with the boozers on one side and the home builders on the other. "Lay on Macduff, lay on," etc. The better element of men and women of this country will never vote for a wet candidate for president. They don't have to, because there are men available who stand for home, heaven and happiness.

The race is now on in New York with ten entries to start and perhaps there are some dark horses hid out in the political stables.

Question For Debate Changed by Request

AUSTIN, Texas, June 27.—The state executive committee of the University of Texas Interscholastic League announces through the head of the League, Roy Bedichek, a change in the debate question which was announced last spring. The question matter of inter-school athletics, but the state meeting of delegates of the League held May 2 in Austin unanimously requested that the state executive committee to change the question. Accordingly the committee has selected the following question in lieu of the one previously announced:

This question has been carefully briefed both affirmatively and negatively, a voluminous bibliography has been prepared and arguments pro and con compiled, which material will be issued in the form of a bulletin from the University Press about the first of August. The bulletin will contain more than one hundred pages and will attempt to cover the question with some degree of thoroughness.

"There will be a change in the elimination plans in the counties," said Mr. Bedichek, "which will secure, it is hoped, more public interest in this discussion as well as better training for the individual contestants. Triangular debates in the counties will be arranged wherever possible to which the public will be invited, eliminating many contests teams previous to the county meet; so that at the county meet, instead of having a tournament to decide the county championship, there will be a final debate between two teams surviving the preliminary public contests in the respective communities of the county."

"Moreover, competing teams will be encouraged, especially in the district and bi-district eliminations, to debate the question from radio broadcasting stations. Not only will this increase the size of the audiences and thus stimulate a wider interest in this important public question, but it will be a great inspiration to the debaters to prepare themselves effectively. While a decision in each debate will be made by a competent set of judges a vote by mail of 'listeners in' will be taken. It will be interesting to compare the vote of the 'listeners' with the vote of the expert judges who actually see the teams in action. The voice, unaided by the gestures and personality of the speakers, must carry its conviction to the radio audience, and will thus tend to throw more emphasis upon voice culture and cultivate the acquisition on the part of the speakers of the 'radio voice.'"

FAMOUS ST. PAUL'S IN DANGER OF COLLAPSING

(By International News Service)

LONDON, June 25.—St. Paul's Cathedral, one of England's most famous churches and well known to all visitors to London, is in danger of collapsing, according to eminent architectural authorities.

Built more than 250 years ago by the famous Sir Christopher Wren, St. Paul's dominates half London with its enormous dome reaching to a height of nearly four hundred feet.

Authorities state that the dome has sunk several feet in the last century due to the perpetual vibration set by passing traffic. Unless the sinking is immediately remedied, they say, there is a very real danger of its collapsing.

Heat Killing Chickens And Dogs In Dallas

DALLAS, Texas, June 27.—The intense heat here has had a disastrous effect on the poultry business, according to poultrymen.

Fifteen fat hens and a rooster were picked up by the garbage removal wagon at one place, victims of heat and humidity. Due to the large number of persons taking automobile rides to seek relief from the heat, numerous dogs and cats, as well as fowls, have been killed by motorists. 2000 carcasses were picked up in one day on the highways, the removal squad said.

COMRADES ASSIST MAIMED FIGHTERS IN 2 MILE MARCH

Bands, Barbecue, G. A. R. Ovation
and "Casey" Ball Feature
Annual Meeting.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 25.—Young men who went through the flames of the world war today walked proudly, though shaken, through two miles of Salt Lake city streets.

Lacking the military precision of a few years back, the crippled, the blind and the shattered were assisted along the march by comrades who had been with them when enemy lines were broken by the newly developed American Army.

It was the fourth annual parade of the Disabled American Veterans, led by National Commander James A. McFarland, of Dalton, Ga., and was made up of the delegates from chapters from every part of the country.

The disabled men were divided into fourteen divisions and were escorted by all the available Regular Army and National Guard units in this section.

Even the Grand Army of the Republic joined in the demonstration, the few remaining white haired veterans riding in automobiles and receiving an ovation that was second only to that of the younger veterans.

The parade was one of the most impressive spectacles ever held here. Despite their disabilities, few of the men failed to cover the whole route and march past the reviewing stand to the tune of gay music furnished by many bands.

The march ended at Pioneer Park, where a real buffalo barbecue was awaiting them.

Committee meetings and a convention session are scheduled for this afternoon, and tonight the delegates will attend a ball given by the Knights of Columbus.

FIRST CHINESE JUNK AT ANCHOR IN U. S. HARBOR

NEW YORK, June 25.—The strangest craft that ever cast anchor in Sheepshead Bay was piloted in by Captain George Ward, a huge Dutch-Canadian skipper, who brought his Chinese wife, their eleven-year-old son and bizarre tales of adventures during their 15,000-mile trip from Amoy here via Vancouver, B. C., and the Panama Canal.

The "ship" is a fifty-three-foot Chinese junk, built of camphor wood and Chinese fir, and is held together by bamboo pins. She has an eighteen foot beam and draws four feet of water.

Ward plans to keep his vessel here for several months for sightseeing purposes and then sail for Europe.

Texas Veterinarian Returned from Calif.

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 27.—Dr. Leon Cloud, state veterinarian, has just returned from California where he put in a month of intensive study of the foot and mouth disease which has been raging there. Danger of spread of the disease to Texas caused the commission to send Dr. Cloud to get first hand information as to methods of combating the malady.

Losses to California from this epidemic total more than $10,000,000, according to Dr. Cloud. The government has paid out more than $4,000,000 in indemnities. Fully half of the 100,000 head of cattle slaughtered in the campaign against the disease were pure bred stuff.

The chief weapon against the disease is a 30-30 rifle, Dr. Cloud said. The only safe thing is to get the infected animals under ground as quickly as possible to prevent spread of the disease. It is believed birds are partially responsible for its spread in California. The disease is now under control, according to latest reports from California, Dr. Cloud said. The only infected herd is in Merced county, and there no new infection has been found in more than a week.

J. K. HUGHES GETS 5000 BBL. WELL IN LULING FIELD

Wednesday night the J. K. Hughes Developing Company drilled in the largest producer that has been brought in in the Luling field. The well came in for an initial production of 5000 barrels actual gauge and is maintaining a steady flow at a depth of about 2106 feet. This well, which is No. 15 on the Allen tract makes a total of 12 producers for the J. K. Hughes Developing Company on this tract. Their Allen No. 16 which is drilling a sure producer and makes this one of the most valuable tracts in the Luling field. This company has also erected a derrick and will drill a well for fuel purposes.

The E. L. Smith Oil Company's Cerf No. 5 in the Powell field was drilled in and completed the first of the week and has been put on the pump and is now producing at the rate of 350 barrels per day. The E. L. Smith Company has abandoned their Pippin No. 1 in Hopkins County and have moved the rig.

The East Central Texas fields have not furnished any sensational developments the past week. Only two new producers have been brought in in the Richland field and all of the completions in the Powell field have been very small. Several wells are nearing completion in the Richland field and should prove up considerable territory in that field.

Operators continue to have faith in the Hopkins County area although a deep duster was abandoned last week. The Gulf Production Company staked a location for its No. 1 W. J. Davis on the Clark survey. The Alcorn Oil Company's No. 1 Coppedge on the Hamilton survey was drilling at 3,878 feet. A rig as being built for the Bar Tex Drilling Company's No. 1 on the Waggoner Survey and a rig was in place for Kelsey and others' No. 1 Brooks on the Dowell survey.

Stinner & Lyles are drilling at a depth of 3535 feet in their Barrow No. 1 Terrell survey in Kaufman County. The No. 1 Talbot being drilled by Yost and others in Rains County has been abandoned.

The McMan Oil & Gas Company have drilled their No. 8 Chapman on the Anderson survey in Navarro County to a depth of 3,070 feet. This well is reported as making 7 barrels from a sand at 3,054 feet. The Roxana Petroleum Corporation's No. 9-A McKie is swabbing 85 barrels from sand at 2,856-78 feet. The Witherspoon 9 on the Broyles survey was abandoned by the Gulf Production Company. The same company's No. 3-A McKie was making 7,000,000 feet of dry gas from a sand at 3,076 feet.

The No. 4 McKie of the Kirby Petroleum Company was swabbing 85 barrels from a sand at 2,963 feet. Their No. 5 was drilling in lime at 2,815 feet. The No. 1 Woolens on the Smith Survey was pronounced dry by Lamber and others and abandoned. The Texas Company's No. 20 Kent is pumping 50 barrels. The Tidal Oil Company's Cerf Nos. 11 and 12 are swabbing 125 and 120 barrels with a large percentage of water. The Texas Company's G. Kent No. 1 Allen on the Smith survey was dry at 3282 feet and shut down for orders.

Nothing of importance transpired in the Richland district. Travis and others' No. 2 Swink, on the White survey, made 25 barrels initially from sand at 2,937-78 feet. Stroube & Stroube were due in soon with their No. 1 Davis, same survey, which was below 2,877 feet. Miller Lewis apparently had a failure in No. 1 Swink, White survey, which tested salt water at 3,093 feet and was shut down for orders. G. Moore bailed No. 1 Hill.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON IX

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman
Public Education Commission, American Bankers Association.

What means has a savings depositor to prove that he has deposited his money in a bank? A person leaving his money as a deposit in a bank is given a pass book.

J. H. Puelicher

PASS BOOK—A small account book in which is written down by the bank a complete record of the deposits and other credits, the withdrawals or debits and the depositor's balance.

DEPOSITS—Money left with the bank by the depositor or some one for him creating a credit.

CREDITS—Items representing deposits or other amounts which are credited, that is, added to the customer's account; interest earned by his money is also added to his account from time to time by the bank and is a credit just as money actually deposited by him.

WITHDRAWALS—Money drawn from the bank by the depositor, or by some one duly authorized by him to do so, creating a debit.

DEBITS—Items representing amounts withdrawn which are subtracted from the depositor's balance.

BALANCE—Difference between credits and debits.

It is best to deposit savings in a bank because your money is safe; it earns more money; a systematic record is kept; it stimulates more savings and your money is always available when required.

The Sun Oil Company had three wells near the top of the sand on the same farm where it struck a 2,864 barrel well last week, and started two others. The Hallmark Oil Company was cleaning out its No. 1 Webb, White survey, with a show of oil in sand at 2,918-52 feet. Guttman and others abandoned their No. 1 A. J. Swink on the Ross survey, as dry at 3,024 feet. The Boyd Oil Company's No. 2 Webb, White survey, made 480 barrels initially on the swab from sand at 2,937-77 feet.

Richland is attracting more than causal interest on the part of operators.

Employees of Simms Co. To Be Insured By The Company

Simms Oil Company
Dallas, Texas,
June 18, 1924.

To All Employees:

Four years ago your present officers undertook the management of this company. At that time we had 56 oil wells, with a daily average net production (for the 3 months ending June 30, 1920) of 2384 barrels, practically all of which came from leases in the Homer field. Today your company has 245 wells, with a daily average net production of 11,541 barrels (3 months ending June 1st, 1924.) Its operations now extend over Southern Arkansas, Northern Louisiana, Central and West Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

We are justly proud of this accomplishment and deeply appreciate that such progress could not have been possible without the loyalty and co-operation of our employees.

With a desire to evidence this appreciation in some material form, your officers have arranged with the largest life insurance company in the world to provide term insurance upon the lives of all employees who, on July 1st, will have been in Company's service continuously for six months or more. Other employees will become eligible for this insurance on January 1st and July 1st of succeeding years, as they complete six months or more of continuous service. Full details of the plan will be furnished in a few days.

No medical examination will be required and the entire cost of the insurance will be borne by the company.

Cordially yours,
EDWARD T. MOORE,
President.

MEXIA CITIZEN HAVING A TIME: "DINES" WITH "COLORED LADY" AND SEES THE "PONNIES" RUN

Since my last letter your writer drove over the Lincoln Highway to Philadelphia through Bryn Mawr, just as the alumni were paying homage to their alma mater by putting on a fashion revue of the yesterday. So this makes the third College I have gone thru since seeing you and this being an exclusive girl's school I will be supposed to know much about the mysteries of the special femini in the future.

After parking my struggle buggy in Mr. Wanamaker's garage to avoid downtown traffic jams in the city of "Sleepy Hollow"—alias Philadelphia—and also seeing that Father Penn was still posing atop the City Hall where he froze some fifty years ago trying to keep step with a crippled ghost—I decided it was time to eat. As it had been over a year since I had been in an automat I thought it afforded another close-up study of human nature and so I dropped into a new one that they have built on Market street at an out-lay of half a million dollars. I know these places are supposed to be the food resort for those who cannot afford cover charges in the great cities—still I know of no such pretensions eating place in the great state of Texas as this Automat on Market street, Philadelphia. It is monumental in dimensions and elaborate in detail and no better food can be had. I always see the strange and curious in there however and also the young fellow with his best girl that was never in an automat before and while you eat you can enjoy life's great comedy—which is the zest of it all. Just about time though I had turned a few knobs had heard the nickles roll down the slot and the glass door drop open with its inviting viands, which in this case happened to be a hamburger in tight with sauer kraut and trimmings, a large portly creature hove into view whose ancestry dates back to the Congo, and with her, came two wild-eyed kinky heads. She must have weighed four hundred in bobbed sox and in the language of the automobile she had a graceful wheel-base but an exaggerated wind-shield. The only thing I am sure she could buy ready made to wear would be a handkerchief. You should have seen this creature who up here they call a "colored lady." To one of her young hopefuls she had admonished several times not to twist the knobs off to the other she yelled, "Chile that's no Ford you're crankin' go easy." And what do you think when all was set and lovely she landed at my table—cargó—perfume of the rose and two trays loaded with food. The old Southern negro is entirely different from this "jungle variety" and recalling that I was in Rome I held my temper shifted into high and telling her she was out of her place I landed in the furthest opposite direction—over where the music out-weighted the "order de Africa."

The next morning on my way to wholesale row I dropped into Independence Hall and again stood near the table where the Declaration of Independence was signed—there with the pen and ink—well as it was that even fall day of 1776. All this in the room of Continental Congress where all deliberations that brought forth a new nation and the greatest were held. Then back at the end of the hall was the Liberty Bell—stately in her bearing and eloquent in her silence. Muffled as if in restraint and standing there in awe, as if wondering if her people did not want to hear her "cracked voice" proclaiming liberty that has well nigh been forgotten in many different ways by her progeny. Strange to say that this spot of ground in Philadelphia—which by historic rights, belongs to the people of this nation and occupies an entire city block—sleeps there in the bosom of a great city without even a flower or a shrub to adorn its memorable location. Some power should awaken Philadelphia from her slothful slumber and remind her of the fact that history and romance—that life and tragedy and the blood of a great nation ebbs and flows thru the portals of this Patriotic Shrine. Then traveling first thru the garden spot of geography I landed at the Latonia race track. Here is where all the great thoroughbreds make your blood tingle with the crack of the jockey's whip and the sigh or laugh of those that travel the pace. It is indeed a study in human nature. On leaving the hotel I inquired what was the best way to get to the famous sporting ground. I found that one had his choice between a dollar taxi fare while inhaling the aroma of Omar and burnt cabbage or taking a chance at standing in the Turnerville trolley at five per. The latter appealed to me for it is with the man in the street that life holds its most charming colors of lights and shadows and I was amply paid for the decision. I joined the great throng at the terminal and landed in a car on the back platform standing next to the conductor. It wasn't long before he found I was from Texas and I found that he was an over-seas veteran, who had a lost Buddy in Texas—in Houston—where name was Charlie Hall—a newspaper man of Houston.) who saved this man's life one day in No-Man's Land in or near the Argentine. It was out where a man's life wasn't worth a candle's flicker. It happened on the 7th of November, 1918, and the armistice was signed on the 11th. The last he saw of Charlie Hall was the good-bye he gave him on the 7th with the hiss of the 75s and the gleam of cold steel playing hid-in-seek with his heart. He doesn't know—Charlie may be tatting ruffles for the Angel's negligees and again he may be in Houston pounding out copy. I took his name and address and don't it be wonderful if I can locate the conductor's buddy for him—who he had written many times with never a line in return. He told me he would gladly part with a precious hundred dollar bill to hear from Charlie Hall. Shortly we drew up to the portals of this great race track, with the din and clamor of America's sporting life playing a tattoo on your nerves you would never forget. It was here that in Memoriam and the great Zev fought a fight that only thoroughbreds backed by their masters' millions can stage. Just as I stepped on the inside a red-headed tout of the spring garden variety thrust a "confidential tip" into my hand and asked for fifty cents. In order to test out a few of the "inside" lights I produced—he thanked me with the smile of a Chesterfield and told me to keep it "dark." Then on out thru the grand stand to the paddocks and with the crowds in its excitement and expectation—expectation of ill gotten gold. It was a wonderful day for the sport of kings with a clear sky and the Jockey Club grounds a riot of color and a vision of pastoral beauty. An emerald lake shimmering in the sun sparkles in flawless grandeur—the hedges of a green frame done in nature's own shrubs borders the lake and reaching from their foot stool a carpet of blue grass rolls up to the white posts of the track fence. On the bosom of a June breeze is wafted to your eager ears the call of the bugle while in the midst of the glowing picture Old Glory from a lofty flag pole salutes her countrymen at play. At the call of the bugle the ponies came sauntering to the post, with the changing colors of each jockey flashing a promise of performance in the bright sunlight. There all about me was "America on parade"—the painted lady, who was there every day, with her diamonds and spun silk glistening in vaulted pride, elbowing her would be son of jade luck with his plaid shirt and flowered collar, who had also made it his avocation to come and take a toss at the God of Luck. Then the man of family, the office boy, the girl "steno," who had of heavy winnings, and finally the rough and dirty urchin who knew the ponies and had a special tip on the previous day's workout. It all formed one vast sea of surging humanity, numbering into the thousands, on whose faces were written the tale of all ages and all despairs. While drinking in the rabble of an excited crowd on "Luck Boulevard" I heard as if with one voice—"They're Off!"—and out there on the track flashed by as if in one giant body the prismatic array of jockey colors with the distended nostrils of their mounts all eager for the final goal. Round the first quarter and on and finally down the home stretch. I have thought that baseball furnished the supreme excitement and brought forth all the latent energy of America at play, but not so. Gabriel must have awakened from his slumbers rubbed his eyes in daze wonderment and put in a hurry call for the riot squad when the echo reached his ears—for it rang in rolls of thunder from the hills of Old Kentucky back through the valley of the winding Ohio and carried hope laden with the anvil chorus of twenty thousand throats to the ears of those plunging beasts urged on by whip and spur. Then at the final flash—the shout of gain or the sigh of loss. It was one vast panorama of nature casting the gauntlet to chance.

"SUNSHINE" MARY ANDERSON ARRIVED IN CITY

Mary Anderson, noted screen celebrity arrived today and will appear in Person tonight at the Opera House with her latest picture, "Wildness of Youth." The picture opened here last night and all that witnessed it think it a wonderful production and love Mary in it, but were disappointed at Mary's being absent. She regrets very much, that on account of illness in Dallas, she was unable to appear here yesterday, but will now try and make up for her absence.

She was the guest of the Lions club at their luncheon today and gave a brief chat on her profession. Mary was met at the station by Mr. Browder of the Buick Company, Mexia's Commissioner and Dr. M. M. Brown, vice president of the Mexia Lions Club, and her Business Manager, Milton Wood of Hollywood. She went immediately to her hotel to make ready for her appearance before the Lions. Now Mary has dimples and plenty of smiles and this is the reason they call her "Sunshine," as she don't misrepresent the title. She will be here for three days and will be glad to meet everybody in Mexia.

HAPPY THRIFT

HAPPY thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You can depend upon home furnishings, clothes, foods you see pictured and described everywhere. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again! And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

When you keep an eye on advertisements, you save right. You buy what you think you buy.

Advertisements remove the blindfold from buying—read them carefully.

Editor Often Taken
For Mere Newsboy

AMARILLO, Texas, June 27.—J. Paul Gleason, Oklahoma's youngest editor, admits that he is sometimes mistaken for a newsboy when he carries papers under his arm, but for two years he has successfully managed the Southwest Wheat Grower, said to be the largest wheat market publication in the country.

Gleason is just 21. When the big wheat pools were organized and the state was being scored for an editor of the co-operative paper, he offered his services and was turned down because he was too young. Then he offered to run it without pay for three months to prove that he could hold down the post. He has been on the job for two years now, and is regarded as an authority on co-operative marketing.

The human eye is really a very delicate, living, optical instrument. It often stands much abuse and makes strenuous but futile efforts to itself correct its imperfections. It should be about twenty-four millimeters, or about one inch in length, and, if it is either longer or shorter, than perfect, comfortable vision is unlikely.

Let us take the eye that is a little too short from front backwards. Optometrists know this a hypermetropic eye, but by the general public it is known as the far-sighted. The possessor of such a pair of eyes may see perfectly, but in order to keep the picture on the back of the eye clearly a little muscle is called upon to over-exert itself. Eventually it becomes tired and strained, and the possessor of these eyes knows that there is something the matter.

If he wisely consults an optometrist, he will find: first, his eyes are care-

"Shall the charter reported by the Charter Commission to the City Commission of the City of Mexia, Texas, on the 27th day of May, 1924, and which had been prepared by the Charter Commission duly elected by the qualified voters of the city of the 18th day of March, 1924, be adopted as the charter of the City of Mexia, Texas, as contemplated and authorized by the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas, including Chapter 147, Acts of 1913, Regular Session?"

Section 2. That the polling places and presiding officers of said election shall be, respectively as follows: the polling place shall be at the City Hall, in the City of Mexia, and W. B. Kendrick is hereby designated as presiding officer.

Section 3. That said election shall be held under the provisions of Chapter 147, Acts of 1913, Regular Session, and all persons qualified to vote in said City under the laws of this State regulating general elections shall be allowed to vote.

Section 4. That the manner of holding said election shall be governed by the general laws of the State of Texas, regulating general elections, when not in conflict with the provisions of the law hereinabove referred to.

Section 5. All voters desiring to adopt a charter so prepared and reported by the Charter Commission shall have printed on their ballot the following:

OFFICIAL BALLOT
"For the adoption of the Charter prepared by the Charter Commission duly elected on the 18th day of March, 1924, and which was reported by said Charter Commission to the City Commission of the City of Mexia, on the 27th day of May, 1924."

And those opposed shall have on their ballots the following:

"Against the adoption of the Charter prepared by the Charter Commission duly elected on the 18th day of March, 1924, and which was reported by said Charter Commission to the City Commission of the City of Mexia on the 27th day of May, 1924."

Section 6. That the action of the aforesaid Charter Commission in calling the election for the purpose hereinabove stated, and in all other respects with reference to the framing and submitting of such proposed charter, are hereby ratified and confirmed, and the said Charter Commission, or the members thereof, shall ratify and confirm all things done by the present City Commission of the City of Mexia, Texas, with respect to the matters and things dealt with in this ordinance, and shall make the same their act and deed by subscribing their respective names hereunto under the caption: "APPROVED BY CHARTER COMMISSION"; and such action as is subscribed shall be published as a part of this ordinance.

Section 7. A copy of this ordinance shall be sufficient notice of said election, and thirty (30) days notice of the time and place of holding the said election shall be given by posting certified copies thereof at the places designated for holding said election at least thirty (30) days prior to the holding of said election, and by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) full days from date of election.

Section 8. The fact that the City of Mexia is at the present time without a charter and that the public interests require the adoption of a charter, creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity for the suspension of the rules requiring ordinances to be read upon more than one day and for the immediate taking effect of this ordinance, and such rules are hereby suspended, and it is ordained that this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval.

Passed and approved this 27th day of May, 1924.

The London home of Lady Ludlow, whose first husband was Sir Julius Werber, diamond king, has been robbed of jewels valued at $2,500,000, believed to be the most stupendous robbery on record. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, pastor of the Church of St. Mark-in-the-Bowdrie, in New York, leader of the modernists in the Protestant Episcopal Church, has finally bowed to the orders of Bishop Manning and eliminated the so-called pagan dances and similar affairs that had been featured in his historic church. Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., world-famous surgeon, told delegates to the American Medical Association convention in Chicago that spleen removal in future would supplant removal of the appendix in the hunt for the ails of the human frame. Arthur Lehman, New York banker, has given $200,000 to Harvard University for an administration building.

Premiers Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, and M. Herriot, of France, have reached a complete accord on the Dawes reparations plan and will call an allied conference in the middle of July to accept it. Ex-King George of Greece has left his exile in Bucharest, Rumania, and gone to Paris to get a job as scenario writer, having found it impossible, he says, to live on the $100,000 allowed him by the Greek Government. Former United States Supreme Court Justice John H. Clarke, in a speech in New York, declared that unless some substitute was speedily found for the social order of the United States, its religion and its civilization would be destroyed.
